REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

In response to the Examiner's request for an election of specie, applicant elects compound 102 set forth in Example 4 of page 24 of the international specification. Later on that same page 24, there is a typographical error in Table B's description of compound 102. That typographical error has been amended herein so that the Table B description of compound 102 correctly conforms to compound 102 as described (and synthesized) in Example 4.

Pending claims 1, 2 and 3 are all generic to the elected specie. It is urged that these claims set forth molecular structures with sufficient commonality to be prosecuted in a single application without undue burden on the Examiner.

It is urged that the application is now in condition for allowance. Issuance of a Notice of Allowance is solicited.

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being deposited with the United States Postal Service with sufficient postage as First Class Mail in an envelope addressed to: Commissioner for Patents, P.O. Box 1450, Alexandria, VA 22313-1450, on November 14, 2003:
